A WATERLOO. The Washington Team Give the Balti-

more Ball-Tossers a Terrible Beating. The Baltimore ball team came to Washington yesterday full of hope and confidence, and backed up by the presence of a large excursion party of citizens, anxious to repeat the dose of Monday. The Senators had their strongest team in the field, Whitney pitching to Mack. Myers was on second and Donnelly at short. The Baltimores put Harkius in the box and O'Brien in front of him, while Trott stood at first. Jack Farrell played a magnificent game at short. The hopes of the Monumental team were soon soused in a very cold bath. The Senators began to but in the first inning and did not cease until they had piled up 22 his, a total of 33 bases, and had made 20 runs. The visitors could do nothing whatever with the mysterious curves that the Grasshopper shot over the plate, making but two widely separated hits until the seventh inning, when the long man seemed to let up a little. They played an indifferent game in the field at critical moments. Farrell and Shindle carried off the honors of fielding. Som-ers, in the center field, had plenty to do, five of the Senators banging the ball out near the fence. The Baltimore man, however, was there every time. In the sixth inning Deasley took Irwin's But the greatest feature of the game was the magnificent playing of Daily, who, out of ix times at the bat, made five hits, a total of ten bases, five runs, stole two bases, and failed to make an error. Hoy and Mack ran bases with perfect ease, each taking six. The former, having been at the bat twice, stole four bases. He made three hits, and Mack made four, one of them a double. O'Brien was second in batting, making a home run, a three-bagger and a single. He also stole a base. The Waterloo came in the fourth when Washington had eleven men at bat and scored eight times. The errors men at bat and scored eight times. The errors were 5 by Washington and 10 by Baltimore. The lotal score was 20 to 4. There were about 2,000

To Prevent Accidents. AMERICAN INVENTORS INVITED TO COMPETE IN AN

EXPOSITION AT BERLIN. Minister Pendleton has sent to the Department of State a copy and translation of a letter adgressed to him by the president of the German Universal Exposition for the Prevention of Accidents, giving the objects and aims of the association and begging him to make them known in the United States. The letter states that a German Universal Exposition for the Prevention of Acciheld in Berlin in the months from April to July, 1889, to contain apparatus and apappliances meant to protect workmen against the dangers which threaten them in the industrial occupations, from a knowledge of which a reduction in the number of industrial accidents may be expected. The exposition aims not only to promote a knowledge of the apparatus and appliances cal-culated to prevent accidents, but also to stimulate an interest in their further development and to jurnish the inventors of similar protective contrivances an opportunity to demonstrate their practical utility. It will therefore have much of the character of an industrial exposition, and as the workmen and handicraftsmen of all lands have an equal concern in the decrease of accidents in the industrial occupations there can be no doubt that the exposition will also be of Interest for other countries beside Germany, as foreigners are allowed to enter their exhibits. An invitation is extended to American inventors to take part.

France and Italy. THE COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE OF THE TARIFF WAR

BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. Italy. Of much more importance to Italy, the re-port states, is the large increase in the duties imposed by France upon wines, raw slik, and cattle imported into France from Italy. Hitherto Italy has supplied the Lyons' slik mills with the greater part of their raw material, and It is believed that these mills will now be obliged partly to suspend their operations. Immense quantities of cheap Italian wines have hitherto been sent to France to be converted into "Bordeaux wine," and the importation of Italian cattle has been very large, Italy will now have to send her cattle to England, and will greatly extend her silk manufactures. The Italians have now the opportunity to improve their own wines instead of selling them to French wine. makers, and in this event Italy could, in the course of the next fifteen years, rival France as a producer of wines of all classes. It remains to be been concludes the consul-general to what ex-tent the tariff war between France and Italy will extend the market for American cattle in France and for American textiles in Italy.

Maryland Republicans for Blaine. THE STATE CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT EASTON MAY 17. The Maryland republican state central commite, which met in Baltimore yesterday, fixed upon May 9 for holding congressional conventions, and ecided to hold the state convention at Easton favor of Mr. Biaine, whether he will or not. In fact, Mr. Ensor, in a speech before the committee on resolutions, said that the republican party of the state favored Mr. Biaine, and his remarks were received with applause. In referring to Mr. Biaine's letter of declination, he said that that dis-tinguished statesman was not asking for the resoluparty he would accept. Such party leaders as Colonel J. Henry Sellman, ex-collector of Internal revenue, Talbot, J. Albert, Dr. Tuck, who has been a candidate for Congress, Messrs. H. Clay Dodson and A. Po-cy, members of the late legislature, Sidney E. Mudd, H. H. Haines and others expressed process. Po-ey, members of the late legislature, Sidney E. Mudd, H. H. Haines and others expressed preferences for Biaine, and in the event of his positive refusal to enter the contest they say they are for the man who can win. Col. Sellman and Mr. Dodson were about the only members of prominence who would openly express their preference for Mr. Sherman, and although Mr. James A. Gary, who represents Maryland on the national republican committee, is known to incline in the same direction, he would not so express himself, and said he would do all he could to secure the election of the party's nominee. Mr. Taibot J. Albert was about the only Allison man heard from. All who talked on the subject, and most of them did, expressed the optimon that the republicans will elect their national teket, and that prohibition will be the one tional teket, and that prohibition will be the one great hail in Mr. Cleveland's coffin. ## The Accidents on the Burlington. THE STRIKERS BRING THE SUBJECT TO THE ATTEN-TION OF THE CHICAGO POLICE. James O'Brien, the press representative of the striking engineers, called on Coroner Hertz and Chief of Detectives Henshaw in Chicago yesterday afternoon, and as a result an investigation was ordered regarding the disposition made of the the Burlington road. The strikers claim that a half dozen employes have been killed on the "Q" since the strike and that the police were not noti-fied of the accidents. Paul Morton, who acts as spokesman for the Burlington Co., denies the facts as stated. He says the report the denies the facts pokesman for the Burlington Co., denies the facts is stated. Dropped Dead While Singing.—Mrs. M. Austin Jones, a favorite in Boston society, dropped dead of heart disease while singing at a reception to hear triends Tuesday night at Hotel Vendome. She was said to be a member of the royal family of Russia, where her husband, a wealthy gentleman of lessure, met and married her. She was a beautiful woman, about thirty-five years old, and noted for her musical gifts.

Systematic War on the English Sparrow.—
The members of two gun clubs at Marion, ohio, devoted the greater part of yesterday to the destruction of the English sparrows in that piace at a premium of 10 cents a dozen. The members were employed at different points of the city at the break of dawn, and began firing on the little pests wherever found. The number of men in the gun clubs is about twenty, but a number of voigun clubs is about twenty, but a number of vol-unteer marksmen also tried their hand. The num-ber of birds reported shot range from 25 to 120 for each man.

MRS, DISS DE BAR ARRAIGNED. The Story of Her Career is Told.

ADVENTURES IN MANY CITIES RECITED BY HER BROTHER-A DAMAGING AFFIDAVIT FROM HER MAN-AGER-JUDGE KILBRETH BECOMES INTERESTED IN

A special to the Baltimore American from New York last evening says: Mrs. Diss de Bar, nee Ann O'Delfa Salomon, has come to the end of her tether for the present. Her influence over the eminent lawyer, Luther R. Marsh, by her pretended spirit communications, has been town talk for the past tortnight. That a man of such intellectual force, a partner of Daniel Webster, and one of the oldest members of the bar, could have been so bamboozled by this notorious woman and her nusband, has been a nine-days' wonder. This pretty pair and two friends-Lawrence by namefor some time past, have taken up their abode in Mr. Marsh's house, and possessed themselves of much of his property, including the house and lot. The press and public have been wondering how this precious gang of adventurers might be made amenable to the law. Judge Kilbreth, who is an authority on criminal law, had followed the case with much interest, and, together with the cale-brated criminal lawyers, Howe and Hummell, from motives of public policy, have brought Madame and her pals to justice. The mine was sprung to-day at 3 o'clock, when Judge Kilbreth issued a warrant for the arrest of Madame Diss de Bar, the "General," and the two Lawrences, on the ground of

At 6 o'clock Inspector Byrnes served the warrant in person, and arrested the quartette at the "Temple," as Mr. Marsh's house is called by the true pic," as Mr. Marsh's house is called by the true believers. Some resistance was made by the prisoners, but they soon quieted down and were conveyed to police headquarters in cabs. Mr. Marsh endeavored to secure bail, without success. New Yorkers will receive this information with great satisfaction. The prominence of the victim and the apparent impossibility of redress caused much scandal. The warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Diss de Bar and the others was issued chiefly on the affidavits of Geo. Salomon, a real estate broker, and her former manager, Jas. Randolph. The story, as told, is a starting record of

VICE, IMPOSTURE AND TRICKERY.

From the affidavit of Mrs. Diss de Bar's brother it is possible to give the true history of this woman for the first time. She is not the daughter woman for the first time. She is not the daughter of Lola Montez; she never was abroad; her maiden name was Ann O'Delia Salomon. Her family are respectable and residents of this city. She was born in Kentucky in 1849. When three years of age the family removed to Washington, and after two years located in Baltimore, where they lived four years. After residing in various cities, the family moved to Louisville, from which place she started on her wanderings. started on her wanderings. She married in New York about 1870, and her husband soon died. She essayed the lecture stage and placarded herself as the daughter of Lola Montez. One of her numer-ous tricks is thus described by her brother in his affidavit: "I went to Dayton, Ohio, found her surrounded by Catholic priests, sisters of charity, candles and everything of this sort. They were administering extreme unction. She is not a Catholic, She has bam-boozled every Catholic that has had anything to do with her, among others Dr. McGlynn. She was feigning death in Dayton, and I told the physician that it was one of her shams. He then talked of putting a red-hot iron to her face to satisfy himseif. Immediately on this, Anna jumped up and knocked down two or the priests, overturned sev-

W. L. Aiden, United States consul-general at Rome, has announced to the State Department that a commercial treaty has just been signed between Italy and Switzerland, which places the latter among "the most favored nations." He says that among the most important consequences of the failure of all efforts to renew the commercial treaty between France and Italy are an increase of 50 per cent in the duty on textiles increase in the duty on minerals and manufactures of metals and wines, including brandy. The result, he adds, will probably be that Italy will import her textiles from England, and that a stimulus will be given to from manufactures in Italy. Of much more importance to Italy, the report states, is the large increase in the duties imposed by France upon wines, raw slik, and cattle.

DAMAGING DEPOSITION OF MANAGER RANDOLPH.

The deposition of James Randolph, her manager, is equally damaging, and completes the evidence of conspiracy. He made a contract with Mrs. Diss de Bar for a lecture tour of the country, which would include an exhibition of the famous spirit paintings. One of her remarks to her manager in a confidential moment was this: "I have had a communication from Angel Gabriel saying he (Mr. Marsh gave up reading." Another was: "I can till you fellows with sawdust, on your feet, pointers in working soft snaps before the end of April. I will have $50,000 more, and you are in it." Referring to the spirit painting she once said: "You can take a picture out of some people's hands and replace it with a red-hot stove and they would not know the change." The interests of common the famous part is an important journal of goods, can he not lie whether its hid away in a corner of an insignificant paper, or made conspicuous with the for tig—whether it is hid away in a corner of the country, which was the probable of conspiracy. Princess Victoria is the oldest daughter of Frederick of Germany and the empress, who is the oldest daughter of Queen Victoria. She is described as a beaut ful and fascinating maiden, highly educated and accomplished—in short, just such a woman as a young hero like Alexander ought to marry. The opposition to the marriage is believed to be fanned by Bismarck under the pretense that it will cause a rupture with Russia, but really to create a strong argument in the minds of the German people for Bismarck's retirement from public some horses from Long Tom, a Shawnee Indian. Mr. Warner stated that called on the collector. Mr. Warner stated that while in London a year ago he ordered the necklace from a London jeweler. It was to cost £500, and to be delivered to him in New York duty free, and when Mr. Gillig handed him the necklace after Gillig's arrival in January, he had no reason for supposing that the conditions of the contract had been violated. Mr. Warner had the necklace with him at the custom-house, and after his statement that it cost in London £500, the collector ordered it to be appraised. This was done on the ordered it to be appraised. This was done on the spot, and it appeared that Glilig had got off too cheap, and that the actual duty on the necklace was $486. Gillig paid $305 on Monday. He was sent for, and he forked over $181 more. Mr. Warner's wife will be permitted to keep the necklace, at least until it is clearly demonstrated that the collector cannot legally declare it. Softwick to the collector cannot legally declare it forfeited to the Government. Just how Gillig became the agent of the London jeweler hasn't yet appeared, or whether the London man was privy to the smuggling. United States District Attorney Walker will attempt to get that information from Gillig.

T A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, AND THINES BLAINE'S WITHDRAWAL SHOULD BE ACCEPTED. A New York special to the Philadelphia Press says: Senator Leiand Stanford, of Cal., has rooms at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He has been here for several days, but he did not register, as he wished to avoid an army of callers. Mr. Stanford, when asked if he was a candidate for the presidency, said asked if he was a candidate for the presidency, said he did not think he was. "If I desired it," he continued, "I think I could have the support of the California delegation. But my preference will be to have the California delegates go to Chicago ready to cast their votes for the most available man who is developed at the convention. Mr. Blaine has been the favorite in my state, and he is even stronger there to-day than four years ago. Still, in view of his withdrawal, our delegates will not be instructed for him. I believe Mr. Blaine's nomination now would be unwise."

Miss Parsons Found in New York. SHE LEAVES NEW YORK FOR HOME AFTER THREE MONTHS' ABSENCE.

Minnie Rose Parsons, of Allegheny City, the young woman for whose abduction Ensign Ryan, of the Navy, and J. H. Mead, president of the Arctic Ice Company, of Pittsburg, are held in $1,000 bail in that city, was found in New York by Inspector Byrnes, and last night she started to return home in company with a detective. She was found in a boarding-house at No. 52 Clinton Place. She said she knew nothing of Carrie Hamilton, with whom she left Pitusburg. Miss Parsons' story, as told by herself, is not as romantic as it was supposed it would be. She says that she wanted to go on the stage, but her mother wanted her to wait until she should reach the age of twenty-one years. She had a friend named Carrie Hamilton, who was possessed of a similar yearning. They made the acquaintance of two young men, named J. R. Marshail and J. H. Mead, who said they were theatrical agents. They left home in January and went to Trenton, where she met Marshail at the Trenton House, where he registered her as his wife. He then took her to the Rochester House, a third-rate hotel of shady reputation, on Bleecker street. She then obtained a situation in a store and later obtained employment as a chorus girl in Duff's Opera Co. at $15 per week. When the company went to Boston she accompanied it, and returned to New York she went to the Clinton Place boarding house. At police headquarters she was told that in Marshall was really Ensien Bran. Inspector Byrnes, and last night she started to reouse. At police headquarters she was told that ir. Marshall was really Ensign Ryan. She made no objection to going home.

WILL ENSIGN RYAN MARRY MISS PARSONS? A dispatch from Pittsburg, last night says: This afternoon the prisoners charged with abducting Miss Parsons furnished bondsmen and were released. It is intimated that the affair will be leased. It is intimated that the affair will be compromised within the next twenty-four hours and that Ensign Ryan will marry the young lady. A dispatch from Pittsburg to the New York Herald, last night, says: Lieut. Eaton, of the Navy, left for Washington to-night after an interview with Ryan, in which Eaton demanded, as a matter of justice, that Ryan marry the girl as soon as she comes home. Eaton goes to Washington to lay Ryan's case before the Navy Department and Intercede for him.

Monesty and Advertising.

In the course of a paper on the evolution of man, ciety, he gave modern advertising as an illustration of the "antagonistic competition" which Judge Kilbreth has the evidence in his possession that Mme. Diss de Bar and the person offering $5,000 reward in the Courier Journal for a box left with some Catholic priest, whose name she had forgotten, and which advertisement at the time created so much comment in the papers, are one and the same. She married Diss de Bar in Chicago. Mme. Diss de Bar, according to her brother, is no spiritualist. She never developed the idea until she met Diss de Bar.

PECULIAR TRAITS AND DARING FRATS OF A LITTLE SOUTH BOSTON GIRL.

Among the inmates of the Home for Feebleminded Children in South Boston there is a little the best authorities on mental diseases. Her peculiar trait is her inordinate desire to climb to the top perch on any object, be it ever so high, to mount and balance herself upon seemingly inaccessible ledges, and there rest content. On entering a room, and knowing she is unobserved, she will fling open a door and catching hold of the edge with her hands, and pressing her knees tightly together, climb to the top and seat herself, wholly unconcerned, and apparently perfectly happy. She will swing back and forth with no fear of failing; indeed, she has Lever been known to lose her baiance.

Her most troublesome trait is her strong aversion to wearing any clothing. She discards her shoes and stockings whenever possible, tears off her garments and causes no end of care to the patient attendants, who find her from time to time almost devoid of covering. She frequently climbs with wonderful agility upon a wardrobe, 12 feet high, or again will mount to the top shelf and there coil herself up like a cat. She has been known to ascend an 18-foot pillar supporting the ceiling and roost upon its ledge. One night she left her bed and deliberately climbed down the spouting from the lourth story to the street. She has never injured herself. Her parents are both strong, mentally and physically.

Joseph Pulitzer's investment.—A deed was recorded in the register's office in New York Tuesday conveying to Joseph Pulitzer, editor and proprietor of the Wirld, for $630,000, the French's Hotel property on Park Row, and immediately adjoining the New York entrance to the East River bridge. The property covers one of the largest areas in the business part of the city owned by a single firm or corporation, and has a frontage of 115.4% feet on Park Row and a depth on Frankfort street of 136.8% feet. On this site, says the World, "Mr. Pulitzer will erect the finest newspaper edince in America at an estimated cost for it of over $1,000,000. Work upon this splendid structure while begun at the very earliest moment after the necessary architect's plans are completed and the contracts can be drawn up and arranged."

A FEW WORDS TO ADVERTISERS.

AN UNPARALLELED SHOWING

With entire confidence THE WASHINGTON EVENING

STAR is presented to the public as the best local the broad and solid foundation that THE STAR CITculates in the city where printed a larger number of copies in proportion to population than any paper in the world. And not only is its circulation the largest and Auliest, but it is also the BEST, since people of the District of Columbia as a body, but into their homes, -into the families of all classes. and into those of the money-spending as well as household, and especially its lady members, are concerned, THE STAR is everywhere recognized and admitted to be, in every quality, the leading and favorite newspaper of the National Capital, alike in the counting-room, the work-shop, and the

In support of these statements attention is in vited to the tables below. They not only show the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper paper and its value as an advertising medium. These are the figures referred to, with which a comparison is challenged:
